

~ This article is about Natural Capital that will benefit everyone and the World's environment ~

Instead of humanity continuing to aim to achieve increasing and unlimited economic growth as such a high priority, starting in this year 2021, the time has come for all people to communicate and co-operate to increase unlimited growth of Natural Capital.

What is Natural Capital?

Growing Natural Capital will enable the occupants of every home block throughout the world, to engage in the practice of Sense of Humus composting and permaculture design by helping grow home food-forests while receiving free assistance from the Sun, the earth (humus-soil), the wind and the rain.

It is Natural Capital that will benefit all people, individually and collectively, including all present and future generations, and restore Earth's eco-systems simultaneously.

People in every home can participate, by converting front and back yards into abundant permaculture designed garden food-forests. This would include apartment and flat dwellers who could use sunny balconys, verges and/or nearby community gardens.

Escalating numbers of people are adopting the practice of maintaining home or community food and medicine gardens. It is now inevitable that integrated eco-villages will emerge as a prominent theme in suburban areas of towns and cities throughout the world.

There are numerous examples of this urban community practice already occurring in places like Cuba, Switzerland and Russia. Many other examples can be discovered by searching YouTube or Google for something like "community suburban food gardens and eco-villages in the world".

Within a decade, as more people and communities increasingly practice this, it will help mitigate global warming, provide meaningful survival knowledge to a generation, reverse under employment by giving ethical, honourable and creative employment to increasing numbers, and provide fresh, healthy, organically grown living foods for everyone.

At the world's first Global Earth Repair Conference that was held in early May 2019 in Washington State USA, it was determined that around 10% of humanity is all that would be needed to get this earth repair survival strategy implemented globally.

The benefits that will flow from doing this as a co-operative global initiative, over a decade, will have a profound impact on all present and future generations and the environment on Earth.

A Natural Capital learning poster is being created and will be available ASAP. This multi-language pictorial production will enable a whole generation to learn about the world's best practices in the skills of sustainable living for an abundant planet. See next page for description of the poster outline.

Only one generation needs to change to improve the world for everyone.

The goal from now is: for the majority of home yards in the world to establish organic Permaculture food and medicine gardens by the year 2050. These gardens will be nourished by the home production of increasing volumes of humus-rich soil and beneficial earth-healing worms.

By processing in hygienic, aerobic, no-dig, conical shaped, composting bins, made from 100% recycled plastics, most people can participate in recycling all the currently wasted and continuously available bio-degradable materials that are generated on every home block, so humanity can collectively co-operate to help start replenishing Earth's seriously depleted topsoils, within this decade.

What The World Needs Now Is A Sense of Humus!

ERF WORM says Compost instead of waste to breed earth worms and make humus-soil; assisting nature to grow the healthiest food, is FUN WORK ~ not toil.

RECYCLED PLASTIC, CONICAL SHAPED, HYGIENIC AND AEROBIC, URBAN COMPOST BINS.

The Vision is for the majority of our world's people to adopt organic gardening with permaculture principles and ethics, by the end of this decade, so that abundant food-forests are growing in most home yards and all other appropriate places.

Earth Care ~ People Care ~ Fair Share

Mind-Vitamin Thought-Seeds™ continuously radiate inspiration. © earthrepair.net 6